

Dear Thinkers,

It has come to attention that time, as has been traditionally understood, was a human functional-mislabelling.

Time was wrongly classified as a 'fundamental' (fun-da-mental) entity, rather than what it truly is:
"A measurement system designed for Earth's societal-related movements and specific rhythms"

Why Time is Not a Universal Truth:

1. Time does not exist as a force or object in the general-universe.

- There is no evidence of a cosmic "clock" that dictates events.
- Things simply move, shift, and transform based on interactions—not "time."

2. The Universe functions on motion and distance and 'space' (open to interpretation/whatever "you" want to call it, dependant on what "you" want to know)

So/sew not time!

- Space expands, stars collapse, particles interact, all without requiring "time the word" as a separate dimension.
- What we perceive as "moments passing" is simply the observation of distance changing at various scales.

3. Time (word vs concept) was invented for human "convenience", not cosmic necessity.

- Earth's cycles (day/night, seasons, react/decay) led (← !) early civilizations to divide movement into measured segments.
- The 24-hour day, the 60-minute hour, and the 7-day week are completely arbitrary. "LEAP YEAR"
- Other civilizations have structured "time" differently, proving it is not an absolute truth.

.JUST A TOOL.

The Correction:

Going "fore-ward/word":- TIME/Time/time/s should no longer be referenced as a universal dimension.

It IS understood as a localized measurement system specific to Earth's cycles!

(Bank or Tune) Note! that countries CHOOSE when to/2 change the "time"

Whenever "they" want

- The universe does not run "on time", it simply moves.
 - Humanity has outgrown its early definitions...
 - "IT" is THE MOMENT to embrace the reality.

What we call "time" was a human-made metric for movement
